Subject: Chat with Caleb Pritchard
From: Caleb Pritchard <cpritchard2001@gmail.com>
To: barriticus@gmail.com

me: Gary Johnson is switching to Libertarian Party me: I'm having trouble figuring out who he is, though Caleb: He's the left-wing version of Ron Paul, I think.
Caleb: A liberaltarian, as it were.
Caleb: A helluva lot smoother than Paul, too.
Caleb: He was in one of the debates.
Caleb: Didn't get a lot of air, but made the most of it when he did.
Caleb: Making mit the soundbytes here and there.
me: was he good?
Caleb: Yeah.
Caleb: In that he advocates correct ideas regarding government and society.
Caleb: And is able to effectively communicate them without sounding like some meandering milquetoast grammpa.
me: whoah
me: http://www.nytimes.com/2011/12/15/world/asia/chinese-village-locked-in-rebellion-against-authorities.html?_r=1&hp me: oh snap, Romney just called Gingrich "zany" Caleb: Takin' off the kid gloves.
Caleb: http://www.washingtonpost.com/blogs/the-fix/post/afternoon-fix-boehner-says-newt-isnt-so-conservative/2011/12/14/gIQAes4VuO_blog.html
Caleb: I'm beginning to doubt Newt will win Iowa.
me: shit man
me: do you have any loved ones you can stay with?
me: I mean
me: Newt
me: so, Ron Paul was a point behind him yesterday
me: in some shitty 500-man poll
Caleb: He's moved into second place in several polls.